Retires From AESD After 25 Years

A. B. MARTIN

A. B. Martin has tendered his resignation with the Arkansas Employment Security Division, after 25 years of service, and his retirement will be effective December 31, 1966.

He has operated the Migrant Farm Labor Center at Hope for the past seven years. He has seen the Center grow from serving 6,229 migrants in 1960 to over 28,000 in 1966.

The Center was originally opened as an experimental project by the Federal Government and the Arkansas Employment Security Division. It has grown rapidly and the demand for increased needs of its services has been so great, until it was decided to expand the facilities.

In 1965 the sum of $158,000 was expended to enlarge it. It now has 20 mobile house trailers with 8 beds each and they are available to migrants for sleeping quarters at a very reasonable price. In addition, it has large shower rooms, restrooms, an adequate parking area and a large cooking and eating pavilion. The entire area covers about 3 acres.

Because of Mr. Martin's work, his interest in the welfare of the migrant and his desire to better serve them, brought him the honor of winning the First Place Merit Award and a $50 saving bond in 1962.

This award is given only one employee of ESD each year, and he is selected from among several hundred employees over the entire state. It is given for outstanding work performed or for work done over and above regular duties of work. He also won the same award while Division Supervisor in the Pine Bluff ESD office in 1957 for making a suggestion in the change of a format on a form used in claims taking. When the revised form was put into use it save many thousand man-hours work among the ESD employees over the entire state.

During the first six years at the Center, Martin operated it alone, working from early morning hours until late at night, seven days a week, nine months of the year, from March 1 to December 1 each year. Since it has been expanded it is now open 24 hours a day, seven days a week and has three full time clerical workers and two part time maintenance workers.

Before coming to Hope Mr. Martin was Division Supervisor in the Pine Bluff ESD office for six years, and had served as Manager in local offices in Monticello, Fayetteville and Conway. Prior to joining ESD in 1941 he taught school in the public schools of Arkansas and Oklahoma.

He was born and reared in Arkansas, graduated from high school at Leslie, Arkansas and attended A & M College, Monticello and State Teacher's College, Conway.

Upon retiring, Mr. & Mrs. Martin will depart for Silver Spring, Maryland on November 18 to make their home and be near their sons, Al and Richard and their families. They said they leave Arkansas and their friends with deep regret, but where their children and grandchildren are is where their hearts are also. Mr. Martin said that he is proud to have been associated with Employment Security for 25 years and leaves with best wishes for all his associates and friends.

Enemy Dead 1,525 in One Week

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Enemy dead in the Viet Nam war rose to 1,525 last week, the U.S. command said today, while the number of Americans killed in action was virtually the same as the week before.

The weekly casualty report said 126 Americans were killed in action. The toll for the previous week was 127. It had been expected that the American casualty figure would be higher, because of the bloody fighting in Tay Ninh Province.

The U.S. announcement said, however, that 810 Americans were wounded in action during the seven-day period that ended Saturday. The total wounded in the previous week was 605.

The enemy toll increased more than 600. A total of 917 dead was reported the week before. U.S. spokesmen say almost 1,000 Communist troops have been killed in the past two weeks in Operation Attleboro in Tay Ninh Province.

Vietnamese government casualties also soared during the week of Nov. 6-12, from 113 killed the week before to 237 last week. The Vietnamese no longer disclose the number of their wounded.

They reported 1,637 enemy soldiers killed during the week, a figure higher than that reported by the U.S. command. The figures of the two commands often vary.

Vietnamese headquarters said more than 50 per cent of the casualties on both sides occurred in the fighting in Communist War Zone C, in Tay Ninh Province.

Other allied forces reported higher losses last week with 21 men killed and 45 wounded. The totals for the previous week were eight killed and 14 wounded.

The U.S. command said the number of Americans missing for the week was 16, double that of the previous week.

The state capital at Austin, Tex., is the largest in the United States.

Costly Goods Just Vanish in Viet Nam

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Goods which cost an awful lot of U.S. tax money vanish into thin air — or, sometimes, into shallow water — in the dock area of Saigon.

Amid rumors that some native port officials with salaries of about 10,000 piastres — $100 — a month are wallowing in the luxury of expensive villas and costly cars, Premier Nguyen Cao Ky denounced the port on Nov. 10 as "a den of thieves."

During a waterfront visit, the prime minister told Brig. Gen. Pham Dang Lan, South Vietnamese director general of Saigon port, that any officials caught stealing henceforth would be shot.

"I'm not speaking of you," Ky told Lan. "I'm speaking of the men who are working under you."

Pilferage at the Saigon docks is only one aspect of the graft, corruption, black marketeering and other chicanery of the Vietnamese war, involving hundreds of millions of U.S. dollars, brought to light by an Associated Press reporting team in a wide-ranging investigation.

Port officials say about 500,000 tons of goods, most of it originating in the United States, pass through the Saigon waterfront every month. Some experts estimate that thieves get 20 per cent of it.

U.S. Navy sources in Washington say that figure is too high, but concede that around 6 per cent of strictly military cargo alone never reaches its destination. Eight months ago this figure was 11 to 12 per cent.

Across the river from downtown Saigon is the peninsula of An Khanh, the major staging area for smugglers and thieves. South Vietnamese customs officers stay away from An Khanh, where you can buy anything from an air conditioner to an automobile tire, all stolen.

An Khanh is where the divers live, too. They go down to the harbor bottom and retrieve goods chucked overboard by accomplices on ships waiting to unload.

They seem to work harder on An Khanh than they do on the Saigon docks.

One recent day along the Saigon wharves, Vietnamese stevedores squatted in the shade. A forklift operator slumped, snoring, in the seat of his machine.

HOPE (ARK) STAR, Printed by Offset

In open spaces between the cargo sheds, piles of cracked wooden cases, piping, and rusted and broken equipment lay in apparent discard. Some of the cases bore the words "Fragile — Handle With Care."

There were plain signs of pilferage: a carton which had contained medicated powder, discarded and empty, boxes containing small motors ripped open and parts removed, packages of tire tubes rifled.

An American Military Policeman showed a reporter a tall cardboard case which he said had been looted of liquor by Vietnamese workers.

The Vietnamese police and Vietnamese MPs on duty at the gates leading to the street are supposed to check outgoing workers for stolen property.

But there is strong suspicion the Vietnamese guards are lackadaisical in their checkouts and some likely are taking a cut.

Patrol boats police the crowded river, but observers say there aren't nearly enough of them.

The hundreds of Vietnamese barges ferrying goods from ships in midriver to the docks are a major problem. Entire barges have vanished. Others may have been hijacked. Others probably were delivered into the hands of black market rings, enforcement officials said.

Late in September, Premier Nguyen Cao Ky became publicly indignant. His indignation followed the reported theft of tiles his wife had ordered for bathrooms in the new palace.

Ky was quoted as saying that a number of businessmen had "deliberately colluded" with thieves in an effort to dodge customs taxes and "to get their insurance compensation." No names were mentioned.

Following up Ky's blast, government - censored Saigon papers ran front-page stories declaring that "well - organized" groups had stolen hundreds of millions of piasters worth of imports. At the official exchange, there are 118 piasters to a dollar.

Most imports are financed under the U.S. economic aid program.

Since early summer, the military command has assumed widening responsibility for supporting port clearance of AID goods.

In time, and with enough resources, this may cure many of the difficulties.

Qualified experts say there must be strong action at a high level to halt bickering here between U.S. Army port authorities and certain AID officials.

Sees a Cut in Great Society Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) Sen. Everett M. Dirksen predicted today Republicans will direct their efforts in the new Congress toward balancing "Great Society" spending with the needs of a growing economy.

The Senate Republican leader said in an interview that so far as he is concerned there will be no GOP effort to join with conservative Democrats in any attempts they might make to out Johnson administration programs.

"We want to take these programs, perfect them and keep them within due bounds," he said. "In doing this, we must measure the capacity of the country's economy to sustain government spending at the level these programs now call for. "How to sustain the economy, with all of its capital expenditures, high price levels and its threat of inflation will be a big problem. What we will work for will be a balance between private and government spending that will permit us to achieve a decent national growth."

Dirksen said he foresees no effort on the part of the enlarged Republican minorities in the House and Senate to scuttle the antipoverty program.

"You don't repeal the poverty program," he said. "You look at it item by item to see where it is falling and then try to make constructive suggestions."

As an example, Dirksen cited a letter he just had received from Sargent Shriver, director of the Office of Economic Opportunity, defending use of the agency's legal branch in obtaining divorces for poverty-stricken persons.

"To me," Dirksen said, "divorce is a personal matter and not something that should concern legal talent paid for by the taxpayers. But Shriver indicated in his letter he is not about to give up using the law, on his pay roll for this purpose. We'll see."

Dirksen said Republicans

MENTAL HYPOCHONDRIAC NEEDS HELP

Dear Helen: Have you ever known a mental hypochondriac? Well, I know a boy (I'll call Jack) who has been talked into the idea that he is unbalanced. The girl who did this, I think, did it so he'd believe she is the only one who understands him.

All Jack has done ever since is feel sorry for himself. His marks have dropped and he is sometimes very inconsiderate, almost as if he feels he's not responsible for his actions. I wish he'd stop under estimating himself since he'd be a great success in art, music or writing, if he wanted to be.

I'm afraid he's analyzed himself into failure. What can be done?—SYMPATHY ON THE SIDELINES

Dear Sympathy: I can't think of anything more dangerous than amateur psychology practiced by the wrong person on a susceptible subject. But don't blame this boy's "unbalance" entirely on the girl. A mental hypochondriac doesn't need a "doctor" to make him come down with everything in the book. He DOES need a real doctor to help him understand and control his weaknesses.—H.

Dear Helen:

I am a teenage boy and I am not happy. At school one of my classmates told me my father told a neighbor he would rather have HER for a daughter than me for a son. This neighbor is married and in her 20's. My father is over 50. This classmate said my Dad was probably just trying to impress a cute young girl, and it's true, he does make a big fuss over women.

I never cause him any trouble and I try in every way to please him as I know he wishes he had a girl instead of me. Isn't it normal for a parent to love his child whether it is a boy or girl? I'm sure my mother would like me just as well, no matter what. My Dad is always telling me how lucky I am but it isn't very lucky when you know you can never be what he wants.—

Dear U: "I know he (she) doesn't love me." Those six words have caused more trouble in family life than all the fightin' words put together—because they block off communication.

You don't know anything of the kind, chum! While you are brooding over your father's dislike, he's probably thinking, "Why out of trouble once in a while. His wanting a daughter doesn't mean he rejects you as a son!—H.

P.S. Sometimes you can try TOO hard to please. It makes parents feel uneasy.—H.

Dear Helen: A friend of mine is going to keep her baby, but she can't get married before it is born. She wants to know whether anyone will know by looking at the birth certificate, whether it is illegitimate or not. Do they have a space for that, or can you tell by the maiden name of the girl on the certificate, or what?—FRIEND

Dear Friend: In your State (California) and about 14 other, birth certificates do not brand the baby "illegitimate." I'm sorry it can't be that way in ALL States.

Check your own and your parents' certificates, and you'll see they give the maiden name of the mother, whether married or not. This is standard procedure in legal forms and implies nothing. A woman could be married to the same man for 20 years, and her maiden name would still appear on her children's birth certificate.—H.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer NEW YORK (AP) — The "CBS Reports" program, The State of the Unions, Tuesday night took a long, balanced look at the labor movement, pointing out its great contributions over the years—elimination of child labor, increased wages and reduced working hours, vacations, relief time, job seniority and pensions. It considered the bloody strife of the organizing years when unions were resisted violently by management.

The program contrasted those struggles with the situation today when union power has grown to a point where "one union can bring most of the nation's airlines to a halt with hardly any more reprisal than a growl from Congress."

Current union problems were not ignored — automation, loss of jobs, alienation of public opinion, hostile legislation. The program noted that of a work force of 77 million Americans, only 17 million belong to unions. Touched upon were charges of corruption in some unions and charges of failure to integrate racially. Herbert Hill of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People said that "the rate of racial integration in the major skilled craft unions of the AFL-CIO is slower than the rate of integration of Negro children into the public schools of Mississippi and Alabama."

Most interesting was the portion devoted to showing the struggle over the past year to form a union for migrant agricultural workers in the West — a little union without the professional skills of the giants, but with all the fire and earnestness that marked the early years of the auto workers and the steel workers.

It was an extremely effective presentation, well - balanced that crowded a lot into a short period.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Doctor Your Car, Check
Your Driving for Winter

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Thou shalt not kill. How many motorists keep this commandment in mind when they are behind the wheel of an auto? According to the National Safety Council more Americans have been killed in traffic accidents than have died in all the American wars. Fall and winter present special hazards.

This is a good time to have your brakes adjusted and, if necessary, relined. If the tread on your tires is worn out, get new ones. Better yet, get snow tires. Don't make the mistake of warming up your motor on a cold day with the windows rolled up or in a closed garage.

Fallen leaves can make a wet pavement as skiddy as snow or ice. Be especially careful when driving past huge piles of raked-up leaves, as these are favorite places for children to play. Every child is a living traffic signal. If many homeowners are burning their leaves (illegal in some communities), a heavy pall of smoke will cut down the visibility. Remember, too, that darkness comes earlier and makes for more hazardous driving. Keep your windshield clear at all times.

When driving on slippery roads remember that legal speed limits are too fast. Cut your speed and increase the distance you allow between you and the car ahead of you. If you have to make a sudden stop on an icy road, pump your brake with a series of quick, hard pushes to prevent a skid. If your car does start to skid, turn your wheels sharply in the same direction as the skid. Above all, remember that driving in winter is different.

Q—Will taking lemon juice every day cause the cholesterol in the blood to go up?

A—Everyone has cholesterol in their blood. The level is increased by eating excessive amounts of saturated fats (butter, cream and most animal fats). It may be decreased by taking these foods in moderation, substituting vegetable fats or by taking large doses of niacin, which is part of the vitamin B complex.

Q—Is carbohydrate the same as cholesterol?

A—Carbohydrate consists of sugars and starches and is not related to cholesterol, which is a fatlike substance.

Q—Can numbness of the hands and feet and dizziness be caused by poor circulation?

A—Chronic anemia or some disease of the nervous system is a much more likely cause.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Large Chinese junks roamed the seas long before Europe embarked upon its great Age of Exploration, according to The World Almanac. Early in the 15th century an armada of 62 junks carrying 27,500 men sailed around Southeast Asia all the way to the Persian Gulf. Many of these vessels were several hundred feet long and four decks high. Between 1405 and 1433 seven Chinese expeditions explored areas bordering the Indian Ocean, including parts of the African coast.

Percentage Play Gains a Trick

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. South led the three of clubs at trick two. West played the five and South called for the ten from dummy. When that held, he played the ace of clubs. Both opponents followed and South claimed all the tricks with three spades, one heart, four diamonds and five clubs.

South was an expert and West a poor player who thought he was an expert. West remarked, "That certainly was a beautiful finesse against my jack of clubs that was going to drop anyway. I suppose you think you made a good play?"

"Yes, I do," replied South. South's play had been correct. This time it gained a trick for him since if he had risen with dummy's ace he would have dropped the jack on the next lead but East's nine would have taken the fourth trick in that suit.

This hand illustrates a percentage play that not many players know about. South gains a trick against the actual holding of jack-small in the West hand. He also gains a trick against four or five or six to the jack in the West hand. His play loses a trick any time East shows up with either the singleton jack or three to the jack.

Clearly the play gains a trick more often than it loses one. If you want the exact figures they are: The first round finesse of the ten breaks even 50 per cent of the time; it gains a trick 31 per cent of the time and it loses a trick 19 per cent of the time.

Incidentally, this first-round finesse play is not correct when you hold ace-king-queen-ten-small opposite a doubleton. In this case the best percentage play is to lay down the ace, king and queen.

Says Georgia, Fights Last Night Arkansas to Cotton Bowl

DALLAS (AP) — The Georgia Bulldogs will be named to oppose the Southwest Conference representative in the Dec. 31 Cotton Bowl football game, the Dallas News said today.

Bowl officials will make public the name of the visiting team Monday, the day the National Collegiate Athletic Association permits such announcements.

The Southwest Conference champion is the host team each year. It is expected to be Arkansas, which needs only to defeat off-beaten Texas Tech Saturday to win its third straight title.

Both Arkansas and Georgia have won eight of nine games going into their finals. Georgia, ranked ninth in the latest Associated Press poll, closes against No. 5 Georgia Tech Nov. 26. Arkansas is sixth.

The News said Georgia became the top choice for the Cotton Bowl when word got out that Nebraska favored a trip to the Sugar Bowl, where Alabama is expected to go.

Lead Bears to Share of AIC Title

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Arkansas State Teacher College's Bobby Tiner and Frank Richardson closed out their season last Saturday by leading the Bears to a share of the AIC championship.

They also rank as the league's top ground gainers. Tiner rolled up 705 yards rushing and 816 passing for a total offense of 1,521 yards. He's tied with Ouachita Baptist University's Johnny Johnson for the scoring lead with 60 points.

Richardson appears to have a safe lead in the rushing department with 826 yards. Jim Howard of Harding is second with 772 yards. Harding also has finished its season.

Tiner's lead in the total offense category is not safe, however. Ouachita's Jim Jordan, who has set two AIC passing records, has 1,420 yards and one game left.

Jordan has connected for 98 passes and 1,297 yards for two AIC records. He has 123 yards rushing. Arkansas A&M's David Anderson holds the total offense record with 1,590 yards in 1950.

Gus Robey is the conference's leading pass receiver with 44 for 714 yards. Southern State's Jim Leonard is the leading punt returner with a 14.9 average and Harry Lisle of Harding is leading in kickoff returns with a 28.8 average. A&M's Dickie Dunn is the top punter with a 39.9 average.

Southern State is the leading offensive team with a 356.3 game average. Ouachita is tops in defense with 235.4 game average.

UNITED STATES BREWERS ASSOCIATION, INC.

Pork Players to Attend Funeral

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The sixth-ranked Arkansas Razorbacks got accustomed to Texas Tech's offense during an 80-minute workout Wednesday and coach Frank Broyles said the session was fruitful.

"We learned what to do on defense even though they (Tech) have so many different changes in their offense," Broyles said.

The Razorbacks will seek at least a share of the Southwest Conference championship and a trip to the Cotton Bowl when they meet Tech Saturday at Lubbock, Tex., in their last regular season game.

"We feel like we accomplished something on offense," Broyles said of the workout, "but we've got some to do because they've got a lot of red-dogs and blitzes that we have to polish up on."

Broyles said sophomore John Evans, a 220-pounder, would start Saturday in place of guard Jim Barnes, who suffered a knee injury last Saturday against Southern Methodist.

The coach said wingback Harry Jones, who injured his left shoulder in the game, was improving and may work out today. Broyles said that if Jones isn't ready by Saturday Jim Whisenhunt would start in his place.

The Razorback seniors, sports publicity director Bob Cheyne, Broyles and Asst. Athletic Director George Cole planned to attend the funeral today at Searcy of Claude Smith, a defensive tackle who died Tuesday in a Houston, Tex., hospital.

Dawson Puts Kansas City Into Orbit

By MIKE RATHET
NEW YORK (AP) — Len Dawson is putting the Kansas City Chiefs in orbit and he gives a good part of the credit to his pocket-sized exerciser—a muscle building and toning machine being used by America's astronauts.

The air-minded Dawson again proved the merits of the conditioning program he started early in February when he completed 10 of 14 passes for 256 yards and three touchdowns in just one half of play as the Chiefs ripped Miami 36-14 last Sunday.

Dawson's performance — his touchdown passes of 26, 89 and 39 yards lifted his total for the season to 22 — earned him the Offensive Player of the Week award in the American Football League by The Associated Press.

But Dawson probably couldn't have won it without his exerciser.

"I'm throwing better this year than in several years because for the first time I haven't had arm trouble," Dawson explained. "That's because I started my exercise program last Feb. 1 and have kept it up."

"I've been working a lot with the exerciser machine, which is one of the new exercise things the astronauts are using. Most players do isometrics, which build muscles, but this machine combines that with isotonic, which build fluid muscles."

"Hank (Coach Hank Stram) is letting me pace myself this year," Dawson explained. "On Friday he limits my throwing to 15 passes. As a result my arm is stronger on Sunday."

The isometrics-isotonics and countdown routine already have brought Dawson one more touchdown pass than he completed all last year. And it also has brought the Chiefs a commanding lead in the Western Division.

Stram leaves no doubt that he considers Dawson's improvement a major reason for the Chiefs' success this season.

"No passer in pro football is more accurate than Lenny," said Stram. "He is throwing better than ever before. A healthy Dawson has made a tremendous difference to our club this year."

Dawson's performance gave him the nod in the voting over Gino Cappelletti, Boston's flanker and kicking specialist. Cappelletti, who missed a 20-yard field goal in the last minutes of play against Denver the previous week, redeemed himself against Houston.

Cappelletti did that by scoring 21 points in a 27-21 victory over Houston, grabbing 63 and 31-yard touchdown passes, kicking 44 and 28-yard field goals and adding three conversions.

San Diego Leads Small College Poll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The San Diego State Aztecs have taken a commanding lead over a new runner-up, Tennessee State, in The Associated Press' small college football poll.

North Dakota State, the leader until replaced by the Aztecs a week ago, slipped from second to ninth.

San Diego State collected 13 first place votes and 156 points in this week's balloting by a national panel of 17 sports writers and broadcasters.

Tennessee State had 110 points, including 20 for two first place votes. Points were awarded on a basis of 10 for a first-place vote, 9 for second, etc.

San Diego State, 8-0-0, blanked San Fernando State 21-0 last Saturday. Tennessee State defeated Lincoln of Missouri 28-6 and lifted its record to 7-0-0.

Montana State, a 13-0 loser to Tulsa, a major college, held the No. 3 spot. Northwestern State of Louisiana is fourth followed in order by Weber State, Parsons, North Dakota, Muskogum, North Dakota State and Clarion State.

Northwestern, La. State advanced one place after beating Southwestern of Louisiana 21-8. Weber climbed three places to fifth. The Wildcats from Ogden, Utah, downed Portland State 51-6.

Parsons, a 13-8 winner over Idaho State, held the No. 6 spot. North Dakota moved up two notches to seventh after trampling Morningside 62-0. Muskogum advanced from 10th to eighth on the strength of a 27-19 victory over Hofstra.

North Dakota State, which fell to second place after losing to San Diego State, dropped its second straight last weekend, 41-14 to State College of Iowa.

Clarion State replaced Arkansas State in the rankings. Clarion, 9-0-0, trounced Slippery Rock 40-0. Arkansas State, seventh last week, was beaten by Arlington State 16-6.

Odus Mitchell to End a Long Career

By JACK DONOVAN
DENTON, Tex. (AP) — Forty-two autumns ago Odus Mitchell sent his first football team onto the field at Post High School in West Texas.

He makes his last trip to the sidelines here Saturday when North Texas State closes its 21st season under his leadership against Chattanooga.

"I'm not letting myself think about it," Mitchell said. "It kind of leaves a little pain to realize this is the last one."

"Forty-two years is a long time in your life to let go of, but I don't want to concern the team with that. I just want them ready to win another game."

Soft-spoken and friendly, Mitchell has spent his entire career as a head coach. The first half was at Texas high schools in Post, Slaton, Childress, Pampa and Marshall, where his teams won 165 games, lost 44 and tied eight.

After World War II North Texas State summoned him in 1946 to become only its seventh head coach in more than half a century.

Before the start of the current season, Mitchell announced his coaching retirement because "it's time someone else does it." During the two decades here his teams won 114, lost 83, tied nine and captured or shared nine championships in the Lone Star, Gulf Coast and Missouri Valley conferences.

With a 7-2 won-lost mark this fall and the nation's fourth best forward passing team, the Eagles just might get a bowl offer.

"This kind of talk happened when we were winning good and went to Drake," he said, "and everyone knows what happened to us up there." North Texas was upset 17-13.

As he prepares for his 43rd and final walk into the field, Mitchell finds "it isn't easy but I guess it is over."

UCLA'S GARY BEBAN, one of the top collegiate quarterbacks in the country, will be watching instead of playing football for some time to come. Beban cracked a fibula in his right ankle as the Bruins beat Stanford, 10-0, Saturday and will miss the big game with USC Nov. 19. Beban's loss is bound to hurt UCLA's chance of getting into the Rose Bowl. That's Kathy Bloch lugging Gary's crutch.

Joan Crosby's TV Notebook

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Meet Edward Villella, the ballet dancer who is able to articulate why the demanding, self-punishing art is so rewarding to its expert practitioners.

"It's the greatest life," the dark, slight and handsome star said. "To do something pure that has the feeling of truth. To be able to control our movements. To be able to dance with freedom but still controlling the freedom."

"Ballet is only moments. A painter can achieve something that he can look at for years and years, but in ballet we can achieve only fleeting moments."

Villella is not only one of the best but also one of the busiest dancers. A star of the New York City Ballet, he will be seen on CBS-TV on Dec. 9 when The Nutcracker is given its second annual holiday presentation. The previous night, The Nutcracker begins a 41-performance run at the New York State Theater, and the following Sunday, Villella will be making an appearance on the Ed Sullivan Show.

"TV is a difficult medium for a dancer," he said. "You are dancing on cement. The floors are slippery, the cameras are in the way and you are dancing for a machine. But it's a great medium for anybody because of the exposure and because it's terribly lucrative, which one must face up to."

Despite the physical and mental strain of dancing

EDWARD VILLELLA

"Given the physical attributes, dancing then becomes 75 per cent mental. You have to have brains in your muscles," he said. Villella is enthusiastic enough to maintain a vigorous schedule.

Once he gave 17 performances of "Brigadoon" at the New York City Theater, danced in seven Nutcrackers at the New York State Theater, did two television shows and helped his wife move to a new home—all in two weeks.

The father of "Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer" is now the father of "Smokey the Bear."

Johnny Marks, who composed the Christmas classic about the reindeer whose red nose helped Santa and his sleigh get through some bad weather, has now composed an hour-long television show about the Department of the Interior's Only You Can Prevent Forest Fires Bear.

The Ballad of Smokey the Bear, an animated musical, will be seen on NBC-TV on the G-E Fantasy Hour on Thanksgiving, Nov. 24. Then, on Dec. 4, Marks' animated musical, Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer, will be repeated for the third time.

There has been a special showing of Smokey's opus for members of the President's cabinet and the Department of the Interior and their children and they all seemed happy with the show. "Every inch of the show and the score had to be approved by the government," Marks said.

A man who likes to take his time composing a song, Marks nevertheless had only three weeks to compose seven of the show's eight songs. (He had written the bouncy title song months earlier, when there was initial interest in the project.)

"But I think one song, 'Anyone Can Move a Mountain,' may be the best I have ever written," he said.

L. A. Says Antismog Devices 'Don't Work'

ON A CLEAR DAY IN LOS ANGELES (top) you can see forever, almost, but when the smog rolls in, even moderately (middle), the skyline muddles. On a bad day (bottom), the lights are turned on. Gasp.

By DICK KLEINER
Hollywood Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

LOS ANGELES—(NEA)—The smog fighters in the City of the Angels are about to take on the automobile industry again and the repercussions of the clash will resound nationwide.

The Air Pollution Control District (APCD) blames 90 per cent of Los Angeles smog on the pollutants that gush from a car's exhaust pipe. And it will soon claim in a public report that the anti-smog devices required on all new cars bought in Los Angeles County are useless after 10,000 miles of operation.

Since new car buyers have been forced by legislation to pay up to $50 for these devices, a lot of Angelenos are going to complain about paying for nothing.

The auto industry, however, is not about to take such criticism without an argument, particularly since the U.S. General Services Administration will insist its cars have such devices by 1968. And that normally means ALL cars.

The industry—required to manufacture, test and install the devices in products sold in the county—is expected to challenge the APCD assertion with what it considers persuasive evidence that the devices do their job if properly maintained.

According to the Pollution Control District, tests have shown that after a car has gone between 5,000 and 10,000 miles the antismog system ceases to function.

The industry, on the other hand, maintains that its own 50,000-mile tests show that the systems, while not fool-proof, operate efficiently if checked and maintained at regular six-month intervals.

Industry spokesmen say they will again recommend to the Los Angeles Board of Supervisors that it require motorists to subject their cars to supervised inspections on a regular basis.

If the industry's evidence isn't accepted by the APCD and the Board of Supervisors, the APCD will make a revolutionary recommendation. Louis J. Fuller, the air pollution control officer, will suggest some time in December that a system of quarantining automobiles must be undertaken.

Details of this scheme are not now available. But it involves limiting the number of cars which are allowed in certain areas at certain times.

The APCD's statistics indicate that most of the smog causes, other than the car, have been pretty well-controlled. When the battle began, in the late '40s, 40 per cent of the contaminants in the air came from what is called stationary sources—the smoke from industry and from private incinerators.

That figure is now down to 10 per cent. Private incinerators have been banned. Industry has been forced to use various devices to curtail dangerous emissions and, as a result, "pollution from industry has been reduced almost to the practicable minimum," Fuller says.

There are still a few loopholes being plugged. This fall the APCD's Rule 66 went into effect. The rule is designed to control emissions from organic solvents. According to the rule's timetable, beginning July 1, 1967, no paint will be permitted in the county which does not contain solvents approved by the APCD.

But this is only a small matter, when measured against the car. Organic solvents, such as paint, now add about 600 tons of contaminants to the air every day. But the car is responsible for around 2,000 tons a day, the experts maintain.

At the APCD's headquarters in Los Angeles—and at 11 other air monitoring stations throughout the basin—machines sample the air constantly, measuring the amounts of hydrocarbons, nitrogen, sulfur and carbon monoxide residents are breathing.

If these amounts reach a certain level, a smog alert is called. The first alert stage is merely a warning, but there have been four such alerts this year. The second stage, which has never been reached in Los Angeles' history, calls for a shutdown of all but essential industry and a stoppage of all vehicular traffic except for emergency vehicles.

The APCD believes that Los Angeles eventually will have a second alert, if something is not done to curtail emissions from cars.

Visas Foul Up Monroes' Star

By DICK KLEINER
Hollywood Correspondent

Panic time around The Monroes—Michael Anderson Jr. is in trouble with the immigration people and they are talking about deportation.

Anderson is a British subject who has been back and forth, working here and there for years. His status is so complicated that an immigration official called his file the most confused he had ever seen—it's all involved with visas and work permits and tourist status and the legal ramifications of it all.

But the upshot, Mike says, is that they told him he could be asked to leave the country shortly. The network and the studio are putting their top lawyers on the case now.

Mike and Vikki, his bride of two months, have rented a house way up in Nichols Canyon, above Hollywood. They'd like to settle down and raise a roof and a family, but you can't very easily put down roots when you may be deported.

The house is big enough for their photographic equipment; Michael and Vikki spend a lot of time taking pictures of each other.

Sauerkraut Stew for Hearty Taste

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

After the lavish Thanksgiving feast, a switch to a hearty foreign dish might be welcome.

Bigos, or sauerkraut stew, is a popular and substantial Polish dish. Bigos combines game with mushrooms and sauerkraut. But we've used salt pork, beef, pork, Polish sausage, frankfurters and rabbit for this Americanized version. The kraut gives the stew its robust, zesty flavor. It's a one-pot meal, and can be made in large quantities because it is even better reheated.

BIGOS
Polish Sauerkraut Stew (Makes 10 servings)

- 1 1/2 pounds fresh mushrooms, sliced
- 1 can (12 1/2 ounces) chicken consommé
- 1/4 pound salt pork, cubed
- 3 medium onions, sliced
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1 cup Madeira or sherry
- 6 1/2 cups drained sauerkraut
- 1 1/2 pound EACH: cooked cubed beef, pork, rabbit or chicken

POLISH SAUERKRAUT—one-pot meal.

- 1/2 pound Polish sausage, cooked and cut into 2-inch pieces
- 1 pound frankfurters, halved
- 1 teaspoon EACH: salt, dill
- 1 teaspoon pepper
- 1 bay leaf
- Cook mushrooms in consommé until tender; drain, reserving liquid. In large saucepan or Dutch oven, saute salt pork until golden brown; add onions and cook until crisp-tender. Stir in flour; gradually add reserved mushroom liquid and Madeira. Stir in mushrooms, kraut, beef, pork, rabbit, sausage, frankfurters, salt, dill, pepper and bay leaf. Cover and simmer 1 hour.

Conference
Brings Peace
Nearer

Associated Press News Analyst WASHINGTON (AP) — The Manila peace conference looks like ancient history now. As a result of it, peace is no nearer and, so far as can be seen, it won't be. It just looks like one of those things.

And now, less than a month after the conference, hardly word is heard about it. The and China have ridiculed all American peace proposals as double-talk, including the one at Manila.

U.S. talk of peace down through the months, and now the years, has been repeatedly vague, which is understandable. By being less than absolutely precise, the United States leaves itself room for maneuver if peace talks start.

This was repeated in the October communique put out at Manila by President Johnson and the six men who met with him there, the leaders of Asian and Pacific nations who are involved on the American side in Since the United States has not won the war, it is not in a position to impose peace terms, unmistakably clear. It can only suggest some. If it could impose terms, there would be no need for vagueness.

So far the United States has been simply trying to get North Viet Nam started in discussing peace. The settlement would have to come out of the talks.

Do as Government Says—Not as Government Does

Government is a great preacher—but a poor performer in practice.

Government is forever telling private business that competitive free enterprise is diversified and wasteful, and that it ought to be standardized.

But look who's talking! Private business, whether it's organized tightly or loosely, does a respectable job of producing the world's goods. But Government produces nothing much other than regulations and income tax forms—and it can't standardize even these.

There's nothing more infuriating to the citizen than opening his mail and finding a blank income tax form that is new and strange to him. His carbon copies of returns for earlier years, carefully saved as a guide for next year, are suddenly worthless—and the old taxpayer is, like his new return, "all shook up."

I am moved to make these remarks by dispatches from that remarkable city of Washington which report, despite changes in the income tax form every year or so, there will be still another change in the one you will file for 1968.

And there is irony in the advance word that the changes have been made to "simplify" the form. By this time we darn well know this is merely a barrage of words to cover the approach of a mysterious and menacing stranger.

It isn't the dollar tax that the citizen minds so much; it's the agony of deciphering and filling out a report that is as changeable as a Mexican jumping bean.

The only reason citizens tolerate this piece of bureaucratic bungling is that they find for a fee they can put the chore on the back of some accountant. My remedy is simple enough: Require every individual return to be made out by the taxpayer personally.

The first time a Form 1040 arrived "all shook up" the citizenry would stop working just long enough to organize a lynching party.

Which gets at the heart of our problem: Washington is so overcrowded that some people have nothing to do to justify their existence in the capital but to think up trouble for the citizens back home.

Black Market Got Warning, Just Moved

By EDWIN Q. WHITE

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Saigon's "PX Alley" was cleared today of the maze of sidewalk black market stalls that offered all buyers everything from combat uniforms to hair spray. The crackdown was announced in advance and the dealers moved much of their stock beforehand.

Vietnamese police moved in early in the morning, dragged some of the goods into small piles and poured gasoline over them. Clothing, foodstuffs and toilet articles went up in flames.

Bottles of whisky were smashed and cans of beer and insecticide were ripped open with bayonets.

The articles seized and destroyed were only a small part of the stocks that formerly were spread along the curbs of the streets near the U.S. Embassy, nearly choking off movement along the sidewalks.

The police action was aimed chiefly at shutting down the sale of illicit goods obtained from U.S. Post Exchanges and commissaries. Some of this was stolen before it reached the American installations, while some was brought or bartered from U.S. servicemen.

The sidewalk merchants also offered goods imported from Hong Kong and Japan as well as locally manufactured products. "Made in America" labels on some of the items — whisky bottles bearing PX stamps, for example — often were phony.

"Things sell a lot better if they think they come from America," one street vendor said recently.

ALC Planning Own Program in Legislature

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Legislative Council, suspicious that Governor-elect Winthrop Rockefeller might not have a legislative program ready when the 1967 General Assembly convened, unanimously voted Wednesday to draft and introduce a program of its own.

The action was seen as an attempt by the council to take the initiative from the Republican governor-elect and to assert the Democratic-controlled legislature's independence.

Sen. Clarence E. Bell of Parkin, who suggested the move, said he would co-operate with the new governor, however.

"I want to make it crystal clear that I, for one, will give serious consideration to the governor-elect's legislative program if he by chance should have time to prepare a program for presentation to the legislature," Bell said.

Bell said he could understand why Rockefeller might not have time to prepare a program before the legislature convenes because "it takes time to produce a constructive and progressive program." He said Rockefeller would spend much time seeking qualified persons for administrative positions.

Bell said, however, that he inferred from Rockefeller remarks in an interview with The Associated Press that Rockefeller would have no program to submit when the legislature convenes Jan. 9. Rockefeller had indicated in the interview that he might allow the 1967 session to take its course and try to get his program in a special session, perhaps in 1968.

"This is 1966 and we as legislators must not shirk our duty and responsibility and permit the progress of our state to come to a complete halt," Bell said in a statement.

"I propose that the Legislative Council produce a complete and comprehensive program for presentation to the 66th General Assembly..."

The council normally comes up with what amounts to a legislative program anyway through recommendations on budgets and various proposed legislation. It was not made clear how the council would formulate its own legislative program.

Bell said legislators would have to "answer to the people in the 1968 elections" if no constructive legislation were presented for consideration. He added that if the council did not produce its own program the legislature might "sit here for 60 days and do nothing" and go down in history as the "do-nothing legislature of 1967."

Several other legislators agreed with Bell that they would give any Rockefeller programs serious consideration.

Turnpike Bill to Be Offered

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP) — State Sen. Russell Elrod of Siloam Springs said Wednesday a bill was being drafted for the 1967 legislature that would create an Arkansas Turnpike Authority.

The proposal was the principal topic of discussion during a meeting of the Western Arkansas Development Association Wednesday. Representatives of 21 counties attended.

Jeta Taylor, president of the Ozarka Regional Development Association, urged the group to "move heaven and earth to get that turnpike because that is the key to economic advancement in western Arkansas."

Vote Recount in Lawrence

WALNUT RIDGE, Ark. (AP) — The Lawrence County Election Commission ordered a recount Wednesday of votes cast in the sheriff's race in the Nov. 8 general election.

Republican Don Nicholas lost in the race to Democratic incumbent Kenneth Guthrie by 52 votes and asked for the recount.

Pentagon Is Against Any Bombing Pause at Christmas Time

By SEYMOUR M. HERSH

WASHINGTON (AP) — Like other Johnson administration officials, top Pentagon leaders are steadfastly against another Christmas-time pause in the U.S. bombing of targets in North Viet Nam.

The Pentagon officials are known to believe there is no evidence now that Hanoi would respond affirmatively — either by taking steps to reduce the fighting or to begin peace talks — if the bombs stopped falling over the North.

As of today, officials believe the North Vietnamese would use any lull to do what they did during last year's pause — "take maximum advantage," as one official put it.

In a series of interviews, officials voiced concern that a bombing pause would give the enemy a chance to repair bridges, railroads and improve the distribution of badly shattered petroleum and oil stocks.

"They went full blast last year," said one well-informed source. "They'll do the same thing again. Anytime you have one day or 37 days in which you aren't hampered, you do what you can."

There have been reports that Pope Paul VI again will call for a Christmas cease-fire and bombing pause in Viet Nam.

President Johnson ordered a pause in the bombings last Dec. 24 and called for their resumption Jan. 31 after reporting the United States had received no indication that Hanoi was willing to begin peace talks.

Opposition to another pause at this time has strongly united the Pentagon's top military and civilian leaders — men who don't always see eye to eye. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and the Joint Chiefs of Staff (JCS) are reliably reported to be against any lull.

One sign of JCS opposition came Wednesday from Adm. David L. McDonald, chief of naval operations, who told a news conference he opposed another bombing pause this year.

Tries to End Vote Count Fuss

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP) — The Republican member of the Sebastian County Election Commission asked the two Democratic members of the commission to meet with him today to certify the results of the Nov. 8 general election.

J. C. Patterson, the Republican commissioner, said he had sought unsuccessfully for two days to contact the two Democrats. Patterson said in his telegram that midnight tonight is the deadline to certify the results.

Says Blackwell Will Be Next Commissioner

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Arkansas Highway Commission Chairman Wayne Hampton said Wednesday he had heard that he would be succeeded in January by Lawrence Blackwell of Pine Bluff, a former state senator and commission member.

Hampton, whose 10-year term expires in January, said he received the report from friends. Governor-elect Winthrop Rockefeller, who would make the selection, has said nothing about appointments. Neither he nor Blackwell, who was one of the authors of the Mack-Blackwell highway amendment, were available for comment.

"I think it would be a good appointment on the commission," Hampton said. "I, myself, have tried to uphold the Mack-Blackwell highway amendment and I don't know of anyone that I would rather see take my place than the co-author of the Mack-Blackwell amendment."

Blackwell served on the commission from May 1958 through January 1961. He completed the term of the late Cecil Lynch of Pine Bluff and was succeeded by Truman Baker of Searcy.

Rockefeller has been highly critical of the present highway commission and has said he will ask them to resign. All were appointed by Gov. Orval Faubus.

Bennett Talks Budget With Joe Purcell
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Attorney General-elect Joe Purcell met Wednesday with the incumbent, Bruce Bennett, to discuss the orderly transfer of office in January.

Bennett said he invited Purcell to review the budget he is submitting for the next biennium and that he wanted Purcell to recommend any changes he believes necessary.

Bennett also said he advised Purcell to urge the legislature to raise the salaries of the attorney general's staff. Bennett said salaries were low and that the turnover in assistants is steady.

"There is a shortage of good attorneys in Arkansas and better salaries offered elsewhere lures our boys away," Bennett said.

Assistants receive $8,400 and the chief assistant gets $9,600. The attorney general is limited by the constitution to an annual salary of $6,000.

Physicians Would Slow Down LBJ

By WALTER R. MEARS
WASHINGTON (AP) — Hurrying back to business after his operations, President Johnson had his family doctor perturbed today at the pace of his return to matters of state.

But Dr. James C. Cain also reported Johnson's attending physicians pleased at the progress of his recovery from surgery early Wednesday.

"It couldn't be better," Cain said Wednesday night.

Johnson has an early morning caller today — former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

He marks an anniversary, too — the 32nd of his marriage to Lady Bird.

Eisenhower's get well wishes come from a man who was hospitalized three times with serious illnesses during his White House years.

If Johnson's doctors have their way, the conversation will be somewhat one-sided. Johnson's voice is a hoarse whisper — but getting stronger — after removal of a growth from his right vocal cord. His doctors pronounced it free of cancer.

Cain said the doctors want Johnson to avoid one of his favorite political tools — the telephone — for at least a few days, to ease the strain on his voice.

Much of what he has to say, Johnson writes on a pad of paper to save his voice. The doctors want it that way.

There are four sutures of fine steel wire on the right side of Johnson's stomach, where surgeons repaired a rupture in the scar left by his gall bladder operation 57 weeks ago. The stitches will come out in about a week, as the two-inch incision heals.

Cain had some doctors' orders for Johnson's recuperation from that phase of the surgery, too: "We don't want him to do any heavy lifting or things of that kind, and we don't want him riding horses, but walking would be excellent."

He said Johnson shouldn't drive a car, either, for about three weeks.

The President is expected to leave Bethesda Naval Hospital within a few days.

"If we could just get him to Texas and get some sunshine and cut down on some of his appointments," Cain said.

There'll be no problem in getting the President to Texas, Johnson already has said he will head for the LBJ Ranch as soon as he can travel.

But appointments and business are another matter. After White House spokesman George Christian announced Johnson's operation day activities, Cain posted a doctor's dissent.

Wants More CD Interest

HOT SPRINGS, (AP) — Gov. Orval Faubus told the fall conference of the National Association of State Civil Defense Directors Wednesday night that the federal government must take a greater interest in the Civil Defense program.

"If shelters are needed, there must be one for every citizen," Faubus said. He said better CD planning needed to originate in Washington.

Faubus lauded the nation's Civil Defense leaders for "their efforts in providing the country with a strong Civil Defense."

Earlier in the program, William Durkee, director of the Office of Civil Defense, said the CD program had made big strides during the last year.

Masons Elect Grand Master

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Grand Lodge, Free and Accepted Masons of Arkansas elected J. Luther Whitfield, postmaster of Casa (Perry County), as its grand master Wednesday.

Highway Commission Ready to Resist Any Move by Rockefeller

(Editor's Note: One of Winthrop Rockefeller's major problems is his unhappiness with the Arkansas Highway Commission. He has said he will demand the resignations of holdover commissioners, but there is some question about what he can do if they decline to resign. Robert Shaw of The Associated Press looked into the law and questioned the holdover commissioners about their reaction to Rockefeller's recent statements about the commission. His story follows.)

By ROBERT SHAW
Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Insistence by Winthrop Rockefeller for the resignations of members of the Arkansas Highway Commission and resistance by the commissioners probably would ignite a major battle over the Mack-Blackwell amendment.

And the battle lines are forming. The commissioners are prepared to resist any effort by Rockefeller to obtain their resignations. Rockefeller apparently is adamant in his desire to get them — either voluntarily or by force.

Rockefeller has said he has evidence that would encourage the commissioners to resign, although he hasn't said what it is. He says he can remove the commissioners for cause.

The commissioners have warned the Republican governor-elect to beware of running about of the Mack-Blackwell amendment, the measure approved in the 1952 general election to take the highway department out of politics.

Under Rockefeller's fire are Truman Baker, of Searcy, Maurice Smith of Birdeye, Armit Taylor of Clarksville and John Harsh of Magnolia, all appointees of Gov. Orval Faubus. They told The Associated Press Wednesday that they had no intention of resigning.

"Why should I?" asked Harsh. "I have no reason to resign now. If there is some-GURDON, Ark. (AP) — A head-on collision Wednesday on U. S. 67 about four miles south of Gurdon took the lives of three persons.

Asphalt Suit to Be Filed
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Wayne Hampton, chairman of the state Highway Commission, said Wednesday the commission's anti-trust suit against asphalt companies would be filed next Tuesday or Wednesday in U.S. District Court in Little Rock.

Hampton said the law firm handling the suit, Shaver and Shaver of Wynne, had prepared the suit alleging overpricing with the aid of Marcus Halla, brother of Washington, an anti-trust specialist.

The names of the companies that will be made defendants in the action have not been disclosed.

Hampton said filing of the suit had been delayed because of illness to J. L. (Bex) Shaver, senior law partner of Shaver and Shaver.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval Faubus said Wednesday that J. C. Mitchell of Little Rock had resigned from the state Merit System Council in order to continue his job as secretary of the Democratic State Committee.

HIGHWAY COMMISSION

ing wrong, I'd like to get it rected myself. I'm interted in the same thing he Rockefeller is doing a good for the state of Arkansas."

The only commissioner not volved is the chairman, ayne Hampton of Bayou elo, whose term expires in uary and who is unlikely to e reappointed by Rockefeller. The other four are marking e, awaiting a move by Rockefeller.

"Of course we'll fight it, it's the way I feel," said aylor. "I intend to hold onto my job."

They declined comment on what measures they might take if Rockefeller tries to force them off the commission and refused to speculate on how Rockefeller might go about obtaining their resignations.

"Whatever procedure he tries comes under the heading of his business," Baker said.

Baker says wholesale dismissals would violate the spirit of the Mack-Blackwell amendment, which was designed to remove control of the commission from the governor's office by staggering appointments.

All members of the present commission, were appointed during the record 12-year tenure of Faubus.

Under the amendment, the governor can remove a commissioner for the same causes that apply to other constitutional officers—high crimes and misdemeanors and "gross misconduct" in office—after a hearing that may be reviewed by chancery court. A defendant has the right of appeal to the Supreme Court.

At least five senators also can petition for the removal of a commissioner. The Senate, after hearing evidence, can remove a commissioner by a secret majority vote.

"I don't think any governor can come in and expect all the commissioners to resign," Harsh said. "When Faubus went in, he didn't ask anyone to resign."

"If something is wrong, and I don't know if there is or isn't, why doesn't he (Rockefeller) get the commission that is constitutionally established to correct it. If he's got the interest of the people at heart, if something is wrong, let us try to correct it. But we've got to have the chance."

"He ought to talk man to man. And if he doesn't, he's still politicking. He needs to get the idea that we are all working for Arkansas, not for the party."

Hampton reported Wednesday that he understood that Lawrence Blackwell of Pine Bluff, a former state senator and commission member who helped author the Mack-Blackwell amendment, was in line for his job. Such as appointment could be construed as an attempt by Rockefeller to help neutralize any criticism that his dealings with the commissioners might generate.

Strained relations between the commission and a governor are not new, however. Last April the commission got crosswise with Faubus over illegal, unauthorized pay raises in the highway department and refused to back down when Faubus wanted it to.

The Faubus-appointed commission and Faubus have had relatively strained relations since.

Dr. Sheppard Is Cleared of Murder

By ARTHUR EVERETT

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Samuel H. Sheppard, cleared after 12 years in the bludgeoning murder of his first wife, savored his complete freedom today and quietly vowed to build a new life with his second wife.

The balding, graying man of 42, who served nine years in prison for the crime of which he was acquitted by a jury Wednesday night, said: "How can I have anything in my heart left of bitterness. I have no bitterness. I have love in my heart."

His lawyers said they expected his osteopathic license, suspended while he was in prison, to be restored. But when asked if he will return to his career as a neurosurgeon, Sheppard replied: "I don't know if I will. If people need help, I will. If people are sick and need a neurosurgeon's help, I will."

As for immediate plans, Sheppard told a news conference an hour after the 10:18 p.m. acquittal verdict: "I plan nothing. I would like to go see our parents in Germany."

As he spoke to newsmen in a downtown hotel, he kept his right arm tightly around his second wife, Ariane Tebbenjohanns Sheppard, who has a 13-year-old daughter, by a first marriage, in her native Germany. Sheppard's parents died 11 days apart shortly after his 1954 conviction, his mother by suicide.

A jury of seven men and five women, acting just under 12 hours after receiving the case, found Sheppard innocent in the July 4, 1954, slaying of Marilyn Sheppard. She was 31 and five

The Saturn 1 engines generated 1.6-million pounds of thrust during the test.

The alternate committee members will also serve alternate delegates to the convention. Delegates to the convention will elect farmers to fill vacancies on the ASC county committee and they will also determine which of the regular county committee members will serve as chairman and vice chairman for the coming year. Questions on eligibility to vote and hold office, or on the election procedure will be determined by the ASC county committee subject to appeal to the ASC State Committee.

As he heard Common Pleas Judge Francis J. Tally read the verdict, Sheppard, on his feet, slapped the counsel table a resounding blow of jubilation. Then, as his lawyers pushed him down into his chair, he began to sob, his shoulders shaking.

Later, in a corridor separating the courtroom where he was convicted in 1954 from the one where he was acquitted 12 years later, Sheppard exulted: "Christmas never has arrived this way!"

A jury in Sheppard's first trial convicted him of second-degree murder, and he was sentenced to life imprisonment. He was released on $10,000 bond from Ohio State Penitentiary in 1964 and two days later married Ariane. They began their romance as pen pals when he was behind bars.

Last June 6, in a landmark decision, the U.S. Supreme Court ordered Sheppard retried or freed. The court said the original conviction was tainted by "virulent publicity" and what it described as the first trial's "carnival atmosphere." The retrial began Oct. 24.

The retrial began Oct. 24.

$100 Fine Is Paid in Pennies

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Two pretty girls paid a $100 traffic fine in County Court Wednesday with 10,000 pennies, but it took longer than they planned.

Clerk Orville Holben ordered the girls to put the name Shelly Horn, 18, on each of the 200 rolls of 50 pennies. That took an hour. Miss Horn and Stephanie Allan, 18, each lugged a cosmetic case filled with the pennies into the clerk's office to pay Miss Horn's fine for a second offense of driving without a license.

"I didn't think it was fair for them to fine me $100," Miss Horn said, "so I wanted to do something to get even."

After Holben's order, Miss Horn, near tears, said, "You don't have people write their name and address on dollar bills."

"We know how much a $1 bill is worth," Holben told her. "We don't know how many pennies are in each of the rolls."

what is Coffee Mill Flavor?

It's fresh-ground flavor you can't get in a can.
 Fresh-ground flavor you do get in A&P's whole-bean
 Eight O'Clock, Red Circle and Bokar Coffees.
 You see, once the coffee bean is ground,
 the flavor begins to fade...
 even when it's vacuum-packed.
 That's why, when we at A&P buy the finest coffees we can find,
 we bring them to you still in the bean.
 And we custom-grind them exactly right for your coffeemaker... right in your A&P.
 Takes a little extra work, but we're happy to do it.
 That way we can be sure you'll enjoy the full, fresh taste of A&P's Coffee Mill Flavor.
 Are A&P Coffees a good reason for shopping A&P?
 They're one of many.

Use Early American as Focal Point

By AILEEN SNODDY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK—(NEA)—The "new context" interior designers like to argue about. This represents a freer use of period designs. To explain it, Motyka cites a Danish couple who plan to furnish a house that is starkly modern architecturally with New England colonial—pine chests and the whole bit.

With colonial furniture Motyka recommends fabrics with brighter colors and contemporary patterns rather than dulled, itchy-bitsy prints often associated with the period. "Such furniture, because of its simple design, mixes well with furniture from other periods," he explains. "Use it with a contemporary rug if you want."

In all, it is more realistic for a young woman on a budget to work with Early American to create a focal point such as a dining area in an apartment. This allows her to live with the feeling of Early American without the room becoming too precious.

Accessories round out the atmosphere. These may be reproductions, one or two legitimate samplers, pewter, brass or Sandwich glass. Just remember the decorating mood continues to be simple, clean and with little fussiness.

Make a Handsome Thanksgiving Pie

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

WE'RE DEFINITELY playing

prizes. This year the pumpkin pie we recommend is the dark and spicy variety. Handsome, too. Cooks favor a pumpkin pie that's made and mild had better look somewhere. Or if your family is used on the important subject just how spicy or mild a pumpkin pie should be, bake one each kind. They'll always remember you lovingly for your part. For, after all, "What stuns the lip and what brightens the eye—What calls back past, like the rich Pumpkin?"

This recipe makes life easy as a cook; it calls for a stick of pared pie-crust for the pastry if needed. For the pie plate, may choose ovenproof glass. However, if you have a favorite pan that gives good results, don't hesitate, of course, use that.

DARK AND SPICY PUMPKIN PIE
Pie-crust stick large eggs cup firmly packed dark brown sugar (if lumpy, sift before measuring) teaspoon salt
teaspoon pumpkin-pie spice teaspoon cinnamon teaspoon nutmeg
cup maple-blended syrup

Trying for Vengeance

IN THE COMPANY OF GILES. By Ernest K. Simon & Schuster.

World War I was the first conflict in which aviators, as they were called originally, made their appearance. In a sense they were a new type of warrior, fighting high above the mud and hells of the trenches.

But in another sense, they were a throwback to medieval knights, when individuals fought battles and were sporting about. Because of the primitive nature of their wire-and-strut contraptions, they sometimes resembled knights on horseback.

Gann's fascinating novel, set in the cold spring of 1917, centers upon two aviators—the young Frenchman Chamay and the older German ace, Kupper. Chamay, a bomber pilot, swore vengeance when he saw his best friend killed, and transferred to fighter squadron to seek out the German expert.

To Chamay, his friend had been murdered without being given a chance to ride his burning plane to the ground, with a possibility of survival. To Kupper, it was an act of mercy to put a badly burned man out of his misery. Chamay becomes the deadly vindictive hunter, taking many risks. Kupper, torn between loyalty to his country and avulsion at the military business of killing, comes to realize that he is cracking up, and becoming a danger to the squadron at his commands.

Gann's clean prose conveys a real empathy with the thrill of flight and a terse understanding of the bestiality of war, touched with earthy irony. His novel is vivid and emotionally moving.

UNITY PLAN REFINED

OXFORD, England (AP)—The Anglican-Methodist Unity Commission is redrafting some details of its plans for uniting the Church of England and British Methodism in the light of suggestions and criticisms offered by members of the two churches.

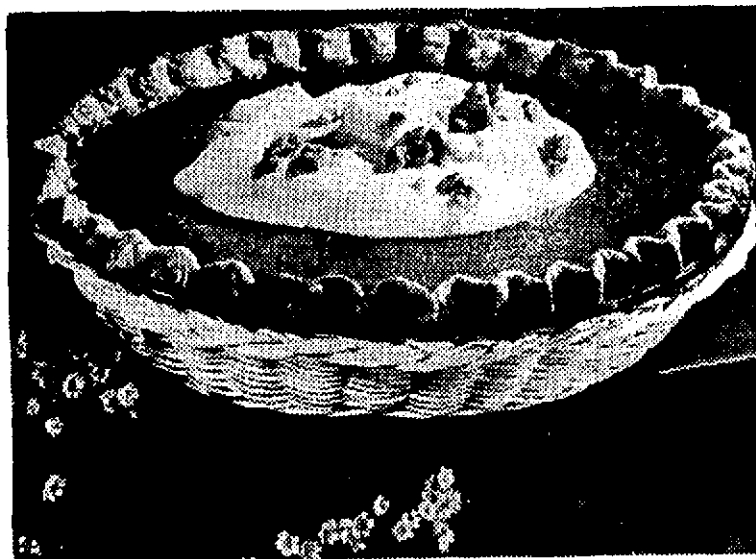

A BIT OF EARLY AMERICAN cost this budget-minded young woman less than $325. She chose to make her apartment dining area a focal point with pieces selected for their size, price and practicality. Harvest table seats six yet is only 35 x 48 inches with leaves extended. Top is melamine plastic and chairs and deacon's bench feature fabric-supported vinyl in Revere gold. Maple-finish buffet matches the set by B. Brody Seating Co. and has plastic top. Completing the setting are simulated wood reproductions (by Arabesque) of seances, clock and country scenes.

Bake Fruit Cake Now to Let Ripen for Holiday

Fruit Cake
1 cup cooked, chopped prunes
1 1/2 cups raisins
1/2 cup sliced citron
1/2 cup sliced candied lemon peel
1/2 cup sliced candied orange peel
1/2 cup sliced candied cherries
1 cup prune juice
1/2 cup orange juice
1 cup lard
2 cups sugar
1 teaspoon mace
1/2 teaspoon cloves
1/2 teaspoon allspice
2 teaspoons cinnamon
4 eggs, beaten
1 cup chopped walnuts
5 cups sifted enriched flour
1 1/2 teaspoons soda
1 1/2 teaspoons salt

Grease a 10-inch tube pan. Line with greased brown paper. Combine prunes, raisins, citron, lemon peel, orange peel, cherries, prune juice and orange juice. Let stand overnight. Cream lard and add sugar, mace, cloves, allspice, cinnamon, eggs, fruit and nuts. Sift together flour, soda and salt. Add to fruit-nut mixture, mixing well. Pile batter into lined pan. Bake in a slow oven (300° F.) 3 to 3 1/2 hours. Cool to lukewarm. Remove from pan and peel off paper. Store in a tightly covered container. Yield: 5 1/2 pounds.

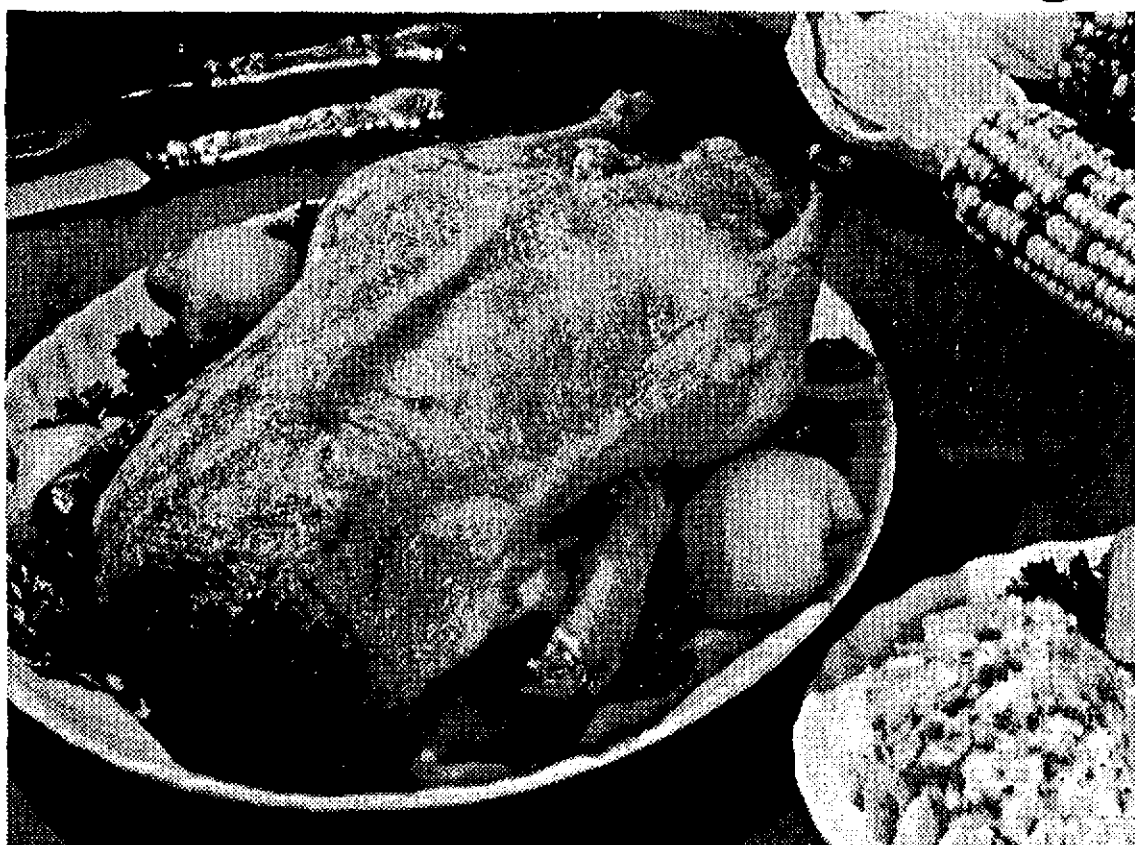

THANKSGIVING DESSERT—Spicy Pumpkin Pie comes to the holiday table garnished with whipped cream and toasted walnuts.

1-1/2 cups canned mashed pumpkin
1 cup undiluted evaporated milk
Whipped cream and toasted walnuts (for garnish)
Use pie-crust stick to prepare pastry for a 9-inch one crust pie shell as directed on inside wrapper.
In a medium mixing bowl, beat the eggs until whites and yolks are combined. Add the brown sugar, salt, pumpkin-pie spice, cinnamon and nutmeg; stir to blend. Stir and blend in the syrup, pumpkin and evaporated milk. Pour into prepared pie shell.

Bake in a hot (425 degrees) oven until a silver knife inserted 1-inch from the side of the filling comes out clean—45 to 50 minutes. Place on wire rack to cool.
Garnish with whipped cream and toasted walnuts.

Give Duck A Good Stuffing

ROAST DUCK—Know how good it tastes with apple-cornbread stuffing?

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

WHEN YOU can use a ready-mix and produce as delicious a dish as you would gain had you "cooked from scratch," we're the first to want to spread the news.

That's how we feel about this apple-and-cornbread dressing for roast duck. The cornbread used in the stuffing is made from a handy mix that comes with its own mixing bag and baking pan. Isn't that a lovely thought? Just as important, this cornbread has just the right flavor for this particular dressing.

One caution: please do find yourself some tart green-skinned apples when you try this recipe. This old-fashioned fruit is the right partner for the cornbread. We usually roast duck at the moderate (350 degrees) temperature given in the recipe. But we know some cooks prefer a slow (325 degrees) oven; so if that happens to be your preference, go along with it!

You may want to prick the duck skin during the roasting in the hope of draining off all the fat. Sometimes we do this, sometimes we don't—depending upon how busy we are with other chores. The pricking does help the fat to drain, but so does a long enough roasting time.

ROAST DUCK WITH APPLE CORNBREAD DRESSING
1 package (10 ounces) cornbread mix (with mixing bag and baking pan)
2 cups finely chopped peeled tart apple
1 1/2 cup finely diced celery
1 teaspoon salt
1 1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 1/2 teaspoon thyme
1 1/4 cup butter or margarine, melted

1/2 cup water
4 1/2 to 5 pound duck
Make up cornbread mix according to basic package directions. Cool. Crumble coarsely into a medium size mixing bowl. Add the apples, celery, salt, pepper and thyme. Sprinkle with melted butter and water. Lightly toss together.
Stuff dressing loosely into neck and body cavity of duck. Close openings with small skewers and lace with cord. Do not truss. Place breast side up on a rack in a shallow roasting pan. Roast uncovered in a moderate (350 degrees) oven until tender and skin is crisp—2 1/2 to 3 hours.

NO CHURCH STORAGE
STONEVILLE, N.C. (AP)—This town, begun in 1857 by Frank Stone, a Baptist minister, has lived up to the heritage of its founder. With a population of only 951, it has 10 churches to serve the community.
